Performing Medicine's Professional Development Programme

For over two decades, Clod Ensemble's acclaimed Performing Medicine programme has been pioneering arts-based learning within hospitals, medical schools and healthcare settings across the UK and internationally. We create supportive transformative environments where people can develop skills to provide respectful, compassionate care - improving the health and wellbeing of our communities.

We are now opening the doors of our studio in London's new Design District on the Greenwich Peninsula to share the unique blend of expertise, skills and research that underpin our practice - helping students to harness the power of arts in healthcare contexts.

This course will appeal to a range of people interested in the intersection of arts and health, keen to develop their working practices and understanding through a year of deep and focused learning. Artists, medical educationalists, members of the healthcare workforce and others will learn alongside one another.
